

I would hope that the FCC would not implement any proposal to lessen the Indiana Telephone Privacy Act.

The privacy act allows everyone the option to receive or not receive phone solicitation. It seems quite simple, for those that do not want it, we have filled out the necessary forms to stop the unwanted calls. For those who do want those calls they don't need to do anything. The privacy act gives everyone freedom of choice.

Personally, it has stopped the unwanted phone calls while we are trying to do homework with our children, or have dinner together, etc. In the short time the privacy act has been in place, it has been wonderful. You have given the people of Indiana the choice, it's my hope you don't punish those who do not want the calls by lessening the guidelines.

Respectfully,

Ronald A. Noelting